Re: Report of the Advisory Committee on Civil Rules

I Introduction

The Advisory Committee on Civil Rules met at the Duke University School of Law on March 16 and 17, 1998.

Technical conforming amendments are recommended in Civil Rule 6(b) and Form 2.

II ACTION ITEMS

*Rules Amendments Proposed for Adoption Without Publication
Civil Rule 6(b)*

A conforming amendment of Rule 6(b) is required to reflect the 1997 abrogation of Rule 74(a), one of the former rules that regulated appeals under the abandoned procedure that allowed parties to consent to appeal to the district court from the final judgment of a magistrate judge. The change is simple and technical. The reference to Rule 74(a) should be stricken from the catalogue of time periods that cannot be extended by the district court:

Form 2

Form 2, paragraph (a), describes an allegation of diversity jurisdiction. It must be adjusted to conform to the statutory increase in the required amount in controversy. Rather than court the risk of continued revisions as the statutory amount may be changed in the future, the

Advisory Committee recommends adoption of a dynamic conformity to the statute:

This change also is a technical or conforming amendment that, under paragraph 4(d) of the Procedures for the Conduct of Business, need not be published for comment. The change, to be sure, is not as purely technical as an amendment to substitute $75,000 for $50,000. It does reflect a conclusion that the form need not, for the guidance of the singularly uninformed, attempt to state the amount required by the current diversity statute. Virtually all lawyers should become aware of statutory changes before it is possible to adjust the form. This conclusion, however, does not seem the sort of policy judgment that should require publication and delay of yet another year in adjusting the form to the current statute. The Advisory Committee recommends that the change be transmitted to the Judicial Conference at a suitable time.
